After "A" school, Logistics Specialists are assigned to ships or shore stations in the United States or overseas. Shore duty assignments usually include naval stations, supply depots, squadrons and staffs. During a 20-year career in the Navy, LSs spend approximately 55 percent of their time assigned to fleet units and 45 percent to shore stations.

WORKING ENVIRONMENT
Logistics Specialists work in offices, shore-based warehouses, air cargo terminals at naval air stations and in storerooms aboard ships. While they work closely with other people, their tasks usually require independent decisions. The diverse working locations associated with this rating provide an excellent opportunity for learning a wide range of inventory database management, financial management, procurement, and warehouse management skills. LSs work in post offices aboard ships, shore and overseas stations in the Navy. The work is both mentally and physically challenging. The wide range of jobs and locations allows people to learn valuable customer service skills.

OPPORTUNITIES
Over 8,500 men and women currently work as LSs in the Navy. Opportunities are excellent for qualified candidates.

QUALIFICATIONS & INTERESTS
Logistics Specialists must be able to work well with people in a customer service environment. Good arithmetic, verbal and writing skills are very important in this rating. The ability to keep accurate records and perform other detailed work is also a requirement.

EARN INDUSTRY RECOGNIZED CREDENTIALS
Navy COOL catalogs and defines comprehensive information on occupational credentials - including certifications, licenses, and apprenticeships - correlating with every Navy rating and some collateral duties. It provides "how to" instructions for pursuing these credentials, links to credentialing organizations, and cross-references to programs that help Sailors pay for credentialing fees. Shortly following the initial rating technical training (Class "A" technical school), Sailors may be able to take advantage of earning civilian/industry certifications & licenses (credentials), funded through Navy COOL.

EARN SKILL SETS TOWARDS CIVILIAN RELATED OCCUPATIONS
The skill sets for this rating crosswalk to civilian related occupations listed by the U.S. Department of Labor. See Related Civilian, Federal and Military Sealift Command Occupations for this rating on Navy COOL.
